Circus Notes.

Twenty performers have lately joined the Barrett Show, making fifty in all.

Bob Stickney and Willie Sells, riders, and Dan O'Brien, leaper, etc., now with the Barrett show, fully maintain their old reputations of excellence.

Hattie L. Alma, a charming little lady with the circus is meeting with great success in selling pictures of herself, all owing to her ability to capture the impressable hearts of the young men.

The Burr Robbins Circus and Menagerie exhibited at Van West, Saturday afternoon and evening to crowded canvas. The show was very good throughout. The street parade was the best that ever went through town. They show at Lima, Monday.

Thursday, May 29, S. H. Barrett and company's circus gave an afternoon and evening entertainment at Grand Rapids; the afternoon attendance was only fair, in the evening the tent was well filled. They have a small, but well selected collection of animals. Every joke perpetrated was new and telling. W. Fred Aymer, first clown, has a dude make-up that is true to life without exaggeration. The genial Fred has also published his songs which were first offered for sale at this place.
